A large, abstract, and ethereal image of a cosmic nebula or starburst, rendered in shades of dark blue and black against a white background. It features a dense, central core with radiating, filamentary structures and numerous small, bright specks scattered throughout, resembling a star-forming region or a distant galaxy.

Need A Consultation Regarding Your Module?

A tutor provides consultations on the chosen subject of studies individually or in small groups. Semester's consultations' schedule is being prepared at the end of September and February and announced in the section of the Mentorship Programme on the Academic Information System (AIS). Students can choose a suitable time and attend consultations of any tutor who provides them.
